STATE NEWS

Cumberland

Prescott the murderer is said to be dying of consumption at the State Prison. He was convicted, it will be remembered, of murdering Williams.

The International Steamship Company has contracted with Goss & Packard, of Bath, to build the hull of their new steamer, which will be eight feet longer than the state of Maine, and be 100 tons larger. The Portland Company will build the engine. The new steamer will be 3,000 tons burden.

Hancock

Next week the Ellsworth American will enlarged to a nine-column paper, having a new dress and a large amount of new type. The enlargement has been made necessary by the great demand for advertising space. This is a sign of prosperity pleasant to note. The American is a live paper.

Kennebec

Stephen Goodinger, of West Waterville, swimming in a fishing stream, was drowned in Messalonskee Bay off Windmill Island on Wednesday.

Monday the House by a vote of 100 to 1 passed the sundry civil appropriation bill. Among the amendments was one directing the Secretary of War to furnish gunners, the Kennebec, recently Augusta Flag Sloop, Wesh, has collected the amendment.

Mr. Nathan Stetson of Monmouth was seriously injured on the field hoeing corn. He fractured the two costally spines in a wrestling match between thirty and forty years of age. He resides with his son Howard Stetson, one of the enterprising citizens, and is one of the respectable.

The Somerset Lime Co. of Hallowell have commenced work on their new building for burning lime and making brick. The brick machine work is by Gordon Da Norton & Partington of Waterville. The machines for burning lime is a new process, patented, and is extensively followed in connection with the furnaces and can be worked with a less number of men than the other process by one using. The old brick kiln has been completed by the M. C. R. R. on the purchase of the company, and they will use it to help to build their new works. Contract on main work at the bridge across the pond.

Knox

Charles A. Wentworth, while loading a schooner in Appleton and Rockland, last Saturday, got a shocking cut in the knee joint by the slipping of his axe. He went to his home and surgeon dressed the wound. The arteries were severed, and a second dressing was necessary during which a brother in law of Mr. Wentworth, D. N. Bird assisted the doctor, and when the operation was over he left the room and fainted in the hall, receiving such a fall as severe cut though his head upon the floor that the doctor thought it necessary to sew up.

Lincoln

Business is lively at the Pemaquid Canning Factory. One steamboat load of 25,000 boxes of sardines left Saturday night, and another vessel came in with more on Monday. The factory is running day and night.

The Wiscasset Telephone says 811,000 will be distributed in Boothbay to the owners and owners of the schooner Rosella as a result of a claim prosecuted by R. K. Sewall, Esq., recently before the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims at Washington. Where will the money go that belongs to the crew of the schooner? Let it go to the poor.

Hancock

Wednesday afternoon a number of little boys were playing on the Stone of the East Surf, in which one of their number, a little boy about three years old, fell into the water. His companions immediately began to cry for help. Alderman Gerrish, who was in his office hard by, hearing the little boy struggling in the water, pulled off his coat and vest and jumping in after the boy caught him just as he was sinking the second time. As it was low water Mr. Gerrish had to swim with the boy, around into the dock, before he could get ashore. The boy, when he got ashore, was nearly unconscious and would have surely drowned but for the timely assistance of Mr. Gerrish, who is the only person that was near enough to save the boy. The distance from the wharf to the water was about fifteen feet, which is quite a jump for a large man like him.

Somerset

A set of new farm buildings three miles north of Canaan village, owned and occupied by Burrill Washburn with all its contents, were destroyed by fire last Wednesday night, says the Anson Democrat. Loss, $2,500, insured for $1,800.

Waldo

Two little Searsport boys, Tuesday, went in bathing and began to play around a boat. They both got into the boat and cut the painter with which she was moored to the wharf, allowing her to drift with the tide. They were picked up as the boat was going by and brought to Islands by the man who carries on the island. The boys in the boat were somewhat frightened.

Stephen O. Pendleton, of Searsmont, hung himself at the insane hospital, August Sunday. He had been insane and confined in the asylum some time.

About midnight, Wednesday, while a circus was preparing to leave the railroad station at Belfast, some of its employes and hangers-on got into a drunken row, resulting in the breaking of the thigh of Joseph Emery, of Waterville. He was taken home Thursday morning.

Washington

All the sardine factories and canning shops in town are now idle. Work was entirely suspended last week. Just how long the factories will remain closed is a little uncertain. Fish have been scarce and of a poor quality so far this season, but even were the fish good and plenty, few of the factories would hardly care to resume operations at the present low prices of sardines.

York

Mr. Staples, contractor on the Old Orchard sewerage system, let the water from the aqueduct into the sewers to flush them and test the works, Monday. Every thing worked admirably.

The body of Timothy Hooper, of Springvale, was found late Sunday night beside an unfrequented road in Shapleigh. Mr. Hooper had been absent from home since Saturday, and it is thought he must have fallen dead from that time, cause of death, heart disease. He was buried early Monday morning.

Mr. Ivory Estes, of Limington, a man about 70 years of age, was found dead Tuesday afternoon, in an adjoining pasture with his neck broken. The accident was caused by falling over a stone ledge some four feet high and striking upon his head and shoulders. Monday, he went out to show the blood spot in regard to a division fence enclosing an out pasture where the cattle had been driven on the side of the mountain lying next to the house. He found his son and went to the house, and Mr. Estes had not arrived. Search for him was immediately made and continued through the afternoon and part of the night. In the morning search was resumed by sixty or more individuals, and about two o'clock he was found as above stated. His death was evidently instantaneous.

OLDTOWN FREE HIGH SCHOOL

Graduation Exercises

The graduating class held their closing exercises at the Town Hall, June 26th. The hall was densely crowded with an appreciative audience, decked out in holiday attire and for beauty of order and quietness cannot be beaten. The hall has been artistically decorated for the occasion and white and blue streamers extending from the apex to four corners of the hall. The rear of the stage was draped with the American ensign, and over the front of the stage was an evergreen arch, crowned with the class motto, Virtute, Non Verbis, and pendant from the centre was the figures '84. Flowers and flags ornamented the hall in too great profusion to be enumerated. The Milford Band was present and discoursed some agreeable music which was fully appreciated by the audience.

The class was composed of eight young ladies clad in elegant white costumes, and one young gentleman the sole being the remnant of a class of twenty five who entered the school four years ago.

It is but justice to say that the audience was taken completely by surprise at the prompt, capable and happy manner in which each and every member of the class performed the parts assigned them not only a credit to themselves, but conferred much honor upon the teachers in the school who have trained them so faithfully and successfully. The diplomas were presented with some fitting remarks by F. E. Sewall, Esq., chairman of the school committee. H. H. Bryant, principal of the school, made some closing remarks. The exercises were then completed by the class singing, with much impaniment upon the piano by Miss Myrtle Folsom, the following ode composed by one of the class:

Hearts of joy this now are on fire
Hail ye childhood's golden hours
All the dainty, phantom Future
Is a bed of pink wreathed in flowers

Memory, O the past still lingers
Like a little flutter or cry all
Still twill echo through life's pathway
The well remembered lying

Oh, sis not Worth, it will be a twilight
As the cool, refreshing showers
May the tiding from out the darkness
Pierce the shadows and meet flowers

Let us be ever
That hope a star will guide us
Where our teachers, classmates dear are Back in Love's eternal morn

It was an occasion long to be remembered, and the happy parents and friends of the class have the hearty congratulations of the whole community. Although each member of the class received an encore, and the audience lingered long in departing, they were too highly pleased for any demonstration. Each member in closing their parts was the happy recipient of many and beautiful floral presents.

Congressman Tyree, of North Carolina, is very sanguine of the success of the Republican ticket in that State this fall.

Even this hot weather is inadequate to [illegible] in spite of the efforts of one of the machine men Cleveland's [illegible] seems to be congealing very rapidly.

The anti-monopolists propose to form a committee of one hundred to attend the Democratic Convention to urge the nomination of Butler. The "old man" means to make Chicago a lively place for the money.

It is suggested that Jones, Curtis & Co. have made a failure in their attempts to buy the Republican Convention and are trying to play the part of bosses in the Democratic party. It looks as though they were destined to get left all round.

One of the correspondents are just now indulging in highly imaginative flights concerning alleged Republican disgust in Iowa with anything but saintly news-paper impurities of so-called journalism that it should be that we have never thought of throwing upon them the slightest suspicion. The Republicans of Maine were probably never so harmonious, earnest and confident of a splendid victory as now, and they are especially pleased with the cheerfully brightening prospect that our state is to furnish the next Chief Magistrate of the Nation.

The German Weekly Reformirter of New-York quotes as follows from a speech delivered by Mr. Carl Schurz in that city during the campaign of 1876: "Only once in 1872, I have I slept in the selection of the Democratic party, and there I have learned enough not to vote the Democratic ticket again in all my life. Yes, my hand shall wither before I do so again." At the recent meeting of independent Republicans in New York, Mr. Carl Schurz offered the following resolution: "Resolved, That we look with solicitude to the coming nominations by the Democratic party; they have no proper men, we hope they will put them before the people for election."

Our Standard Bearers.

During the meeting of the Republican National Committee in New York the Times obtained the views of a number of prominent gentlemen as to the strength of the Republican ticket in different sections of the country as follows:

BLAINE'S POLICY LIKED IN THE WEST.

J. S. Clarkson, of Des Moines, editor of Iowa State Register, said: "The ticket is the most popular in the history of the party, with the possible exceptions of Lincoln's second and Grant's first nominations. We will give it 60,000 majority, perhaps 70,000, in Iowa. Blaine, for fifteen years, has been the most popular of all public men in Iowa. Our people believe in him. The fact that he has been so persistent and advanced in his theories for opening new markets to American produce has added largely to his popularity in the Western States. Your people East know nothing of it, but to us, in the West, overproduction is our greatest fear and greatest considered danger. The only exception to this was two years ago, when we had, the only time it has been, and still, have been in the years when producing twenty times as much from the land as it could use, it could find no market for its surplus. That is our only danger this year, with the prospect and under the certainty of the greatest crops we have ever had. If, we can only be sure of selling, what we raise our prosperity is assured for one, in his policies turns us to the great future of new markets. Our town people are interested in this, have watched him closely in respect of this, and the Iowa farmers most closely of all. We have an immense amount of Iowa flour, beef and pork go to South America now. But it must go from the packing houses at Chicago to the Atlantic seaboard, then English ships to Liverpool, and from there sent by the English middlemen in English ships to South America. Iowa and the West wants a direct market with South America for their immense surplus products, and so Blaine's South American policy is exceedingly popular in Iowa, and every farmer understands it. The lack of markets is the great American lack just now, and it is that which is hurting New York and disturbing its values more than anything else. With partial failure in crops in the great grain-growing region of the United States last year, there is still no market for the great American products, and it will be with the West giving its prime crops this year?

The one demand just now is the opening of new markets for American produce. It is this where business starts. It is this that makes the West filled with Blaine men. He represents a hope of selling our great crops after they are raised. Business men and farmers alike are for him. You New York business men should look over a map. In five-sixths of the thrifty business communities of the United States, particularly in the Middle States and West, which are the communities manufacturing New York wholesale trade, four-fifths of the Republicans and many of the Democrats are for Blaine. In other words, the business men of the Middle States and the West, for the main customers of New York, and who pay 90 per cent. of their bills, are for Blaine.

Blaine's nomination too, is exceedingly popular with the agriculturists as a class. He has been the friend of the agricultural states. It is also remarkably popular with the young men. He represents in his policies all intelligent young men who hope for their country in the future, and the progress will merit much if it is to be strong and prosperous at home and great and commanding abroad. With the Irish, and indeed with all adopted Americans he is very strong in the West. For he represents not only pronounced Americanism, but he also represents protection to the adopted American.

WHAT A CALIFORNIAN FOUND IN THE EAST.

Judge McClure, of California, said: "I found the business men in Maine, regardless of politics, all friendly to Mr. Blaine. They speak of him as a splendid man, a grand man. The support of neighbors and friends who have known him best for years is hearty and genuine. In Boston I found that the Independent bolt was confined to men who are chronic sore-heads, erratic men who are always going off on a tangent. At Newport, Rhode Island, the solid people told me that they were ashamed of Boston. In Connecticut, where I visited in the country, I found everything for Blaine, and not a question anywhere that he can carry the State. The bolt at New Haven, led by a free-trade professor, is laughed at. Letters from the Pacific Coast indicate that Blaine's popularity grows there daily. It is not the Chinese question alone. We are absolutely defenceless there. One man-of-war from China might capture and subjugate us. That is why we are for Blaine—so that we may have protection.

THE BEST TICKET SINCE 1860.

David T. Littler, of Illinois, said: "The whole country knows that Illinois is a Republican State to the core. It was for Logan first, but it was for Blaine next, and the Blaine men were for Logan second, so that, taken all in all, the ticket gives more satisfaction than any ticket since 1860. We have set our stakes for 40,000 majority, but will take less if we can't get that. We shall, I think, get more. The Democrats favor Cleveland and McDonald for their ticket. I presume they really prefer it reversed. It looks to me as though Blaine could almost carry New York City against Cleveland, if he should be nominated."

UNANIMITY OF SENTIMENT IN THE NORTHWEST.

B. F. Jones, of Pittsburg, said: "Throughout Pennsylvania everything is for Blaine. In Ohio it is the same. So it is through the entire West. At Chicago I was astonished to find such an overwhelming sentiment for Mr. Blaine from the entire Northwest. All the people who came to Chicago from that part of the country seemed to be favorable to Mr. Blaine. When we come East, we find at New York City the first coolness. But I think it is wearing off. In talks here today I have found a changing sentiment among the business elements from which I augur well. If there are no unforeseen accidents, we shall carry New York as well as elect Mr. Blaine, for he will be elected anyway, I am confident."

"CONFESS TALKED OF EVERYWHERE."

John P. Sanborn, of Michigan, said: "The least that can be said for Michigan is that there is a volume of enthusiasm in favor of the ticket. We have found that it is a people's ticket. All Republicans indorse it. A great many Democrats talk well of it. I think we shall have a good many Democratic recruits. We think our majority will not be less than 25,000, and it might be a great deal larger."

L. W. Humphrey, of North Carolina, said: "At the last election in North Carolina the Democratic candidate was elected by 500 majority. There are 15,000 voters who failed to register. On a close poll and count under the 652 conditions the Democrats are about 1,000 votes in the majority. The rail issue has somewhat broken up the lines. Large numbers of Democrats are opposed to free and cheap rum and free trade, and this may make some difference. The Democrats are going to make a strong fight and expect to carry the State."

George W. Hooker, of Vermont, said: "Vermont never gives anything but a Republican majority. After the convention there was a little natural disappointment in not securing Senator Edmunds's nomination, but that is all passed away. Now we are all united. Mr. Edmunds gave us a motto, which deserves to be adopted by every Republican, when he said: 'No Republican can afford to vote for a Democratic President.'"

Colonel A. L. Conger, of Akron, said: "Ohio of the October States. Ohio will be the great battle-field. The Democrats have the State offices, the Legislature and the Judiciary. They have the prestige of success in two successive State elections. The State is Republican, but the Democrats will make a grand effort to retain power. Cleveland will give us a stubborn fight. Blaine's popularity, the tariff issue and other advantages in our side make it certain to carry it with the right effort, by 20,000 at least."

Garrett A. Hobart, of Paterson, N. J., said: "New Jersey is in Blaine State. There will be no mistake about it. We shall make the majority as high as possible. I will not attempt to make figures, because I might make them too small. The tariff question, undoubtedly, will be the big fight, and you may be sure that New Jersey is a protective tariff State."

[New York Times, 27th.]

We advise the opponents of Mr. Blaine, of whatever stripe, to let alone the question of his religious positivities and antipathies, in one direction or another. Efforts are being made to show that Mr. Blaine is a bigoted Protestant who has made unfair attacks in politics upon the Catholics, and like efforts to show that he was born in the Catholic church and is still attached to it. So far as concerns Mr. Blaine's personal relief in religion it is no one else's business. So far as concerns his attitude on politics toward one church or another it is likely to be guided by the same motives as have controlled him in other matters. He can readily and fairly be judged by these, and there is no sense or justice in dragging in the question of religion. The American people have got on so far with very little admixture of religious with political feeling, and it is better that they should continue to do so.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

The Talk of the People.

WHO USE IT:

"A good medicine."

"Never had anything act so pleasantly on the bowels."

"Cured scrofula and catarrhal headache."

"One bottle did my dyspepsia more good than all the medicine I ever used."

"A wonderful Blood Purifier."

"A perfect cure for all scrofulous taint."

From Mr. Wm. W. Louis, of Carlisle, City Co., Indiana: For the last eleven years I have been completely unwell. Words are difficult to describe all the little ailments that have united to render my existence miserable in the extreme. Pains in the chest—a heavy dull sensation in my head—frequent at the stomach—weakness in the loins. Bitters badly deranged—restless sleep—complexion sallow—strength all gone. Rendered desperate, I went to the northern part of Michigan, hoping that a change of climate would do me good. I got no benefit. Last spring I went to the city of Terre Haute and resorted to the Artesian baths there, for 3 weeks. One day, looking through the papers, I noticed an advertisement of Burdock Blood Bitters. In June I commenced taking the Bitters. I confess, though, I took quite a doubting with little or no expectation of relief. The result was, however, marvelous and gratifying beyond measure. Since using these Bitters I have not lost a day's work. They take right hold and the effects are always pleasant.

What Byington Says.

"He who would accomplish a purpose must provide suitable means for doing it. No man can expect to see a quart instantly changed to a bushel. The mere looking at a dollar will not make a hundred out of it. No single thing in this world can be regularly sold at a price below its cost. People may experiment and try, but it will always turn out that it is best to pay a fair price for a good and safe article, but, if there is any place in the wide world where this is necessary, it is where a man determines upon that most unselfish of all acts, the providing for an inheritance for his family."—*H. CITY OF BANGOR.

Ordinance Concerning Elections and to Prevent Fraudulent Voting Thereto.

Be it Ordained, By the City Council of the City of Bangor, as follows:

Section One. The City Clerk shall provide a ballot box for each ward in the city, to be used at each polling or voting place, for the election of National, State, County, City and Ward officers. Said boxes shall be approved by the Mayor, City Clerk and City Treasurer or a majority of them; each box shall be covered at the top with a slide only, and have a slit and two locks and keys, and shall contain mechanical devices for receiving, registering and cancelling one ballot for each voter depositing his ballot therein.

Said ballot boxes shall be provided at the expense of the city at a price not exceeding fifty dollars each.

Section Two. All ballots cast at any such election shall be deposited in the ballot box provided for in such boxes, and no ballot shall be counted in ascertaining the result of such elections unless so deposited and cancelled, or deposited in accordance with the following sections.

Section Three. If, totally cause, it shall become impossible at any election to make use of the said ballot box, then the City Clerk as he may provide, the presiding officers at such election shall make a record of the fact, and nature of the defect, then rendering the box useless, and the balloting shall proceed as heretofore.

Section Four. The City Clerk shall, at the expense of the city, provide places for the safe and suitable keeping of the ballot boxes furnished as herein provided, shall have the custody and oversight thereof, shall see that they are kept in good order and repair, and if any of them are lost, destroyed, or irreparably damaged, shall, at the expense of the city, replace the same by similar ballot boxes.

Section Five. The City Clerk shall send by a ward officer, or policeman, to the warden of each ward before the time for the opening of the polls on every election day, the ballot box provided as aforesaid, and one key, together with all blanks and envelopes necessary to make the legal returns by the warden and ward clerk of the result of such election.

At the opening of the polls in each ward, and before any ballots are received, the ballot box shall be publicly exposed and shown to be empty, and the presiding officer shall, by personal examination, ascertain that the same is empty, after which, immediately, the register shall be set at zero, the box locked and the key retained by the presiding officer.

Section Six. The presiding officer, while the polls are open, shall work the ballot box by turning the crank once, and no more, and effectually drop each legal vote into deposited in the ballot box before another ballot has been received in the box. The ballot box shall not be removed from the public view after it is shown to be empty, as aforesaid, until all ballots have been received therein, and the box relocked.

No ballot shall be removed from the ballot box, nor the box unlocked, while the polls are open, unless it shall be absolutely necessary to possess the ballots therein, or in case of some defect in the working of the mechanism, or proof and then to be opened only in presence of two of the legal voters of at least two of the political parties voting at such election.

Section Seven. The presiding officer shall count all ballots found in the ballot box at the close of the polls, after the same has been sorted, counted and declared to be so and drawn envelopes and ward meeting one sealed with a seal provided for the purpose, and the presiding officer shall deliver thereon the number of the ward, the date of the election and his certificate, that all the ballots found in the ballot box at the first opening of the ballot box after the closing of the polls, and none others, are contained in said envelope, and return said envelope with the ballots therein to the municipal officers, together with the ballot box and key, in the same place and in the same time is now required to make his return of the result of the election in his ward, which ballots shall, thereafter, remain under the control of the municipal officers and kept by them for one year.

Section Eight. Whoever willfully and maliciously destroys or injures a ballot box, or the mechanism thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisonment not exceeding six months.

Section Nine. Any officer, for whom duties are required in this ordinance, who willfully or maliciously neglects or refuses to comply with the provisions of this ordinance, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisonment not exceeding six months.

Section Ten. This ordinance shall take effect and go into operation from and after its approval by the Mayor, and be promulgated by publication in the Bangor Daily Whig and Courier and Bangor Daily Commercial.

Spring Without Blossoms.

Late in Life to Look for Joy—It Never too Late to Mend.

Readers of Hawthorne's "House of Seven Gables" will recall the pathetic story of poor Clifford Pyncheon, who had been unjustly imprisoned since his early manhood, and, after his release, "Why life is gone, and where is my happiness? O, give me my happiness!" But that could be done only in part, the gleams of warm sunshine occasionally fall across the gloom of a New England autumn day.

In a letter to Messrs. Hiscox & Co., Mr. L. H. Titus, of Pennington, N. J., says: "I have suffered untold misery from childhood from chronic disease of the bowels and diarrhœa, accompanied by great pain. I sought relief at the hands of physicians of every school and used every patent and domestic remedy under the sun. I have at last found in PARKER'S TONIC a complete specific, preventive and cure. As your invaluable medicine, which did for me what nothing else could do, is entitled to the credit of my getting back my happy days, I cheerfully and gratefully acknowledge the fact."

Mr. E. S. Weks, who needs no introduction to the people of Jersey City, adds: "The testimonial of Mr. Titus is genuine and voluntary; only he does not adequately portray the suffering he has endured for many years. He is my brother-in-law, and I know the case

COLBY COMMENCEMENT

The Baccalaureate Sermon.

WATERVILLE, June 29. The Colby University commencement exercises were ushered in this afternoon at the Baptist church with the baccalaureate sermon by President Pepper. The sermon was delivered in the President's best style to a large and attentive audience. The following is an abstract:

Text—Hebrews xi 27. "By faith he forsook Egypt not fearing the wrath of the king, for he endured as seeing him who is invisible."

These words present to us two contrasted orders of being and life, the treatment which these respectively received from Moses, and by implication the reason of this treatment.

Of these two orders each one is referred to the statement that Moses forsook Egypt for fearing the wrath of king, and specifically the words Egypt and the king. The latter by the statement that he endured as seeing him who is invisible as this harbour stands in contrast with the king of Egypt, as himself also a king over a kingdom which like himself is also invisible. These two orders are all men and to all belong. We have to do with them and they with us.

The first consists of all that which goes with us upon earth life, our time life—present and now life. The New Testament uses it up in the most phrase, "this world." Is it a kingdom? as was Egypt? but a kingdom of kingdoms. Yet our world taken into an exceeding high mountain and there in one glance saw all single men and finally glory, felt all the world control, multitudinous power of their unity, so does the advancing civilization of successive generations carry men up the mount of vision higher and higher from which more and over more is seen of the world of its vastness, richness, power, glory. To us who are in this life—in this present life simply to its life—it has infinitely more than it can mean for Abraham who is not felt the touch of civilization, than it could mean for our ancestors when the first step forward and upward was taken. Each division of the physical, the domestic, the civil, the social, the moral, the hostile, wakes absorbing attentions and eager strivings. The greatest and grandest natures feel most this dominion—such and so mighty is the order of things visible.

And what is this invisible? Not simply that which is remote in time or space. Motives purely earthly come from distant acts and from future ages. The invisible differs from the visible in its nature and in its relation. It is that the invisible real imaginary. Surely he would be a man who should deliberately choose the instead of reality. Truth, reality is not what is seen. He will go under a parish who should take a dream for a fact. The invisible is the spiritual. Its relation is to the personal, the practical, of power and, rational, moral, material being, and life. To us, we are not. We are conscious of this. We excess this consciousness as often as we deny it yourself. The law of this kingdom is the law of conscience—a law that invests as pervades us, holds us, fastens us which leaves us never and nowhere will not let us go in time or eternity. A law which we own even when we refuse to own it. What means our power to think of eternity, Infinity, God, our utterly of power not to think of the infinite, and God? and Controller of the universe? The invisible is the mystic union of spirits the infinite and the finite. Spiritual power and relationship, fellowship, advancements and achievements, of mental riches, and honors and dominions, of stories of moral worth and wealth of the righteousness, grace, mercy, peace, unfading love, eternal life. It is a kingdom with a king invisible but yet has become visible—became flesh and dwelt among us—he has been seen, and heard and handled. He who came down to us out of the heavens that he might lift us up to the heavens—Head over all things to the church. This is he whom we Moses saw. For in the very verse which precedes our text we read that he "esteemed the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures of Egypt."

The text implies that these two realms respectively resolved from Moses approaches. It is that the world for the invisible. Christ's realm Egypt and to "Christ it is on that line," though it took forty years. This put at life "this world, its ties, its motives, its ambitions, strivings, subordinate to spiritual being and its and laws. When the two realms suddenly the former must yield to the terrible at whatever cost. The life of Moses series this so does Christ's life. Moses Paul, so does and must every Christian, yes, the life of every man in far as his life is truly a man. This goes very squarely against the theory that was never clear of all outside worldliness influence the forces only of this world while you root in it, if you ever find yourself in another world it will be time enough then to care for that world. Just as squarely is it against the theory that says honor and respect religion, attend worship, read the Bible for in so doing you command respect, support good order, prosper better your profession and business and succeed to success. This puts the visible and subordinates the invisible. Nor so friendly is it to the theory which makes keep the two kingdoms well apart, have an impassable wall or gulf between religion and business, to give each a time and place, but never let them mix. Nor finally has it any kinship with that which would annihilate the earthly life in hope of being thus very religious as though this were not God's world, Christ's world, as though every material form of life, and all progress in science art, business and civilization were incongenial to Christianity and could not be instruments of Christian service. The reason by Moses treated thus the two realms of life is found in its very nature. The present is only an instrumental life, in its course temporary—intended and fitted to be merely a scaffolding for the rearing of a finished substance which shall stand even after the heavens themselves shall have been rolled together as a scroll, and the earth and all that is in it shall have vanished—Life here is a training school to develope character and immortal worth. Is it a shame to care more for the crude material for the builder—to sacrifice body to mind—spirit to body—eternity to time.

The principle of the sermon was used in brief and practical closing address to the graduating class.

At 7 30 P M, at the same place, a sermon before the Baptist Missionary Society and Y M C A, was delivered by Rev. Joseph Fiske, D D, of New York, alumnus of Colby, class of 1860.

The indications are that the largest and most interesting commencement held here for years is about to take place. Hon. James G Blaine, Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, ex-Governor Coburn, Gov. Robie and Staff and many other distinguished men of this State are expected to be present Tuesday and Wednesday.

THE OAR.

Layberger Defeats Ten Eyck

BOSTON, June 28. The three-mile sculling match for $1000 a side between Ten Eyck of Pocksbill, N Y, and Layberger, of Wheeling, West Virginia, was rowed over the Charles river course this afternoon. The contest was a fine one from start to finish and was witnessed by 15,000 or 20,000 spectators. Layberger was the first out and Ten Eyck followed quickly, selecting the inside course.

At the half mile Ten Eyck led by a foot or two and both then rowed stroke for stroke until the Milldam was reached. Thereto they were bow and bow, but Ten Eyck made another spurt and soon brought his stern alongside Layberger's cockpit. Layberger still struggled at his steady stroke, but the Pocksbill man again spurted and left in clear water and daylight between them. Ten Eyck repeated his spurts after each breathing spell, and reached the turn two lengths ahead of the Virginian. Ten Eyck turned easily, but Layberger met with a little difficulty on account of his rowlock pinching. At the Milldam but a length separated them, and the next dozen strokes brought Layberger even and a few moments placed him in the lead by half a length.

On entering the last quarter the strain on Layberger's arms was seerly felt, and about 100 yards from the finish Ten Eyck had shot out the clear water that previously existed and began to push the nose of his boat towards Layberger's cockpit. Both men at this stage strained every muscle and so close did they get to each other that at one time it was feared there would be a foul. Layberger's stroke was weaker than his left, which caused him to veer out times. Ten Eyck's course, but he finished strong, winning by a short half length amid cheers.

A Fish Story.

A fish fish with lines six miles long in Winnebago lake, Wisconsin, and use 20,000 hooks on every line," says a New York fisherman who has been there "and if they don't haul up 2,000 fish every time they call it indifferent luck. And every fish will weigh from twenty to seventy pounds! That's the way they fish for sturgeons out there.

One of these lines will reach across the lake. It is a rope an inch in diameter. It is carried out in the lake, large buoys being attached to it at intervals to keep it on the surface. The 20 000 hooks, baited with pieces of meat or fish, are lowered to the bottom of the lake by snoods of the proper length, attached to the line. It takes twenty boats, with two men in each, to look after the big fish line. Each boat has 1,000 hooks in its charge. The hooks are placed eighteen inches apart, and to bait all the hooks one requires not less than 1,000 pounds of meat. It takes the forty men and twenty boats ten hours to set the line for the first time. After that the fishermen are constantly employed in going to and fro over the line, hauling in the sturgeon that have been caught on the hooks, and rebaiting where it is necessary.

To haul in a seventy-pound sturgeon from the bottom of the lake is an exciting piece of work, but requires more strength than skill, as the fish always has the hook several inches down his throat, having bucked bait and all down without any regard to consequences. There is no danger of losing the fish unless the snood or the hook breaks. When the fish is landed to the surface again, like a great hook, is thrust into the side of its head, and the sturgeon is drawn into the boat and knocked in the head with a mallet. The hook is cut out of its throat, rebaited, and thrown into the lake.

The average catch of sturgeon is one to every ten hooks. When a boat is loaded with all it will carry of sturgeon, the fishermen row back to shore, where others take the fish and get rid of them. The fishermen know the particular sections of the line on which they work by the arrangement of the buoys. These are placed ten feet apart, and every 1500th one is red. The space between the red buoys contains 1,000 hooks. The sections are numbered, and each boat has its number corresponding with the section it fishes. While the average catch is one sturgeon to ten hooks, it is no uncommon thing for the fishermen to find but one or two on an entire section of 1,000 hooks.

The Lake Winnebago sturgeon is highly prized among the lumbermen and others in the region. Its flesh is finer, and of better flavor than the salt water sturgeon. The fish sells for six cents a pound, round. Large quantities are packed and smoked, for use in the lumber camps.

They are negotiating for the work of building other lines, one of which is to run between Concord and Newport, N H.

ROBBINS GREAT SHOW. Robbins' combined Circus, Museum and Menagerie arrived in this city Saturday morning. They made a street parade in the forenoon which was witnessed by large crowds of people who filled the streets through which it passed. Two performances were given, afternoon and evening, and good audiences were in attendance. This does not profess to be a mammoth show like Barnum's, but everything presented was done in good style and to the entire satisfaction of those present. They left here at midnight, Saturday for Bucksport, where they exhibit to-day, going to Oldtown to-morrow and Lincoln on Wednesday.

REFORM CLUB MEETING. There was a good sized audience at the Reform Club meeting Sunday afternoon Vice-President Dean presiding. The services commenced with a voluntary by the choir. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs Wescott of the Crusade. Prayer was offered by Chaplain Frost of the Club, after which the following speakers addressed the meeting: Messrs Richardson Mason and Ames of the Club and Mrs Grossman and Mrs Pickard of the Crusade. The pledge was very ably presented by Mr Donald Matheson of the Club. The singing under the direction of Mr Haynes, organist, was excellent. The following selections were rendered: "Far away from earthly sorrow," "Shall we meet beyond the river," "Oh the wine cup," "Let me forget," "What shall the harvest be." The meeting was one of much interest to all present.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Exercises and Observance at our City Churches.

Children's Day was appropriately observed yesterday at the Hammond Street Central, Universalist and Second Baptist churches. The churches were dressed out with elaborate floral decorations, and the interesting exercises were attended and enjoyed by large audiences. Below is a report of the services at the several churches:

HAMMOND STREET CHURCH

Children's Day was observed at the Hammond street church yesterday in appropriate services. In the morning the pastor Rev H I Griffin preached a discourse to the children from 1st Chron, 3d chap, 1, 2, 3 verses, giving an account of Josiah being called to the Jewish throne at the early age of eight years, yet he did that which was right in the sight of the Lord which made him a good and useful king and built up the kingdom of Israel—an example for all boys to follow.

The floral decorations were very fine, a large floral cross set in bed of roses, pinkies, pillows, wreaths and forms tastefully arranged were among the most attractive. The young ladies deserve much credit for the selection and arranging of the flowers.

In the evening a service, "The June Floral," adapted for Children's Day, was presented before a large audience, as follows: Organ voluntary, Miss Berry; anthem, I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, by the choir, hymn by the school, prayer, Rev H I. Griffin; recitation, "How beautiful the flowers are," Master James Dunning; chorus, "O summer, lovely summer, by the school, responsive service, superintendent and choir; recitation "The Dandelions," Grace Nutter; duet and chorus, "We are roses," by members from the Children's Home, solo, "The new kingdom," Miss Annie Semple, reading, "Chaplet of flowers," Rena Webster; chorus, "We praise our Creator," school responsive reading, Superintendent and school, solo and chorus, "O what has become of the lilies," by the choir, recitation, "Time for falling of the leaves," Master George Baker, reading, "Altar flowers," Miss Glass, responsive reading, xxiii Psalm, by Superintendent and school, after which Master Robert French repeated the same in the German language. Chorus, "God is love," by the infant class, duett, "Flowers rare," Mrs Roberts and Mr Lunt, the words of which were composed by George T Moody particularly for this occasion, and were very appropriate. Chorus, "Lily bells," by the school, responsive reading, Superintendent and school, hymn, "Joy is hovering all around us," by the school, hymn, "Coronation," by the congregation; benediction by Rev. H. I. Griffin.

Miss Berry presided at the organ, Miss May Silsby at the Cabinet organ, and Ed Adams on the cornet. The service was of much interest and was given strict attention by the large audience present.

THIRD PARISH CHURCH

In the morning the service was appropriate to the day. The floral decorations were very elaborate, and the sermon by Rev. Dr. Field was for the children.

The programme of the evening service was as follows:

Anthem by choir, "Jubilate Deo"; responsive reading, part of VIIIth Psalm, Superintendent and school, singing, "Oh Summer, Lovely Summer," by school; offering of flowers, by fifty scholars, and presentation of cross, by Laura Peaks. This was a most beautiful part of the evening's exercises, fifty scholars, in response to the question, "What have you to bring?" coming forward, each with a beautiful bouquet, which were taken and formed into a pyramid, which was surmounted by a floral cross presented by Laura Peaks. This was followed, by a recitation, "A Child's Gift," by Alice Pearl; solo, "With Verdure Clad," Miss Cooke; responsive reading, part of Psalm XCVI, Secretary and school; prayer by the pastor; Secretary's report; duet and chorus, "We are Roses," duet by Sadie Parker and Mary Rowe; recitations, "God Wants the Girls" and "God Wants the Girls," by Howard Sawyer and Marion Parker; responsive readings, part of Math. VIII, and John IV, Superintendent and school; solo and chorus, "Oh, What has Become of the Lilies," solo by Silvia Gliddon; recitation, "Good-Night Voices," Daisy Rogers, Annie Bogan, Nellie McQuinn and Maud Clark, singing, "Like the Little Birdies," juvenile department; recitation, "Flower Voices," Mamie Stanford, Louise Verrie and Mamie Burr; solo, Miss Rameux, Mr Farrington, address, Revi Dr Field, singing, "Lily Bells," school; benediction by the pastor.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

This church never holds more interesting service upon "Rose" Sunday than the one yesterday. The ladies always noted for their activity and skill in arranging floral decorations, fairly outdid themselves this year. There was a rare profusion of flowers and some handsome emblematic pieces. At the right and back of the pulpit was a ladder of ferns and bouquets, upon the rounds of which were the words, "Faith," "Hope," "Love," surmounted by a large crown of roses. At the left was a large floral anchor.

Upon the pulpit was an open book of white pinks with the text "Mark X 14" in purple immortelles. Around and about the pulpit were arranged the following designs in choice cut flowers: A lyre, star, anchor cross and wreath, while upon the organ was a crescent of daisies and some other designs, while baskets and bouquets filled the windows and altar. Some singing birds lent an additional interest. The effect of the whole was admirable. The usual stereotyped sermon was omitted in the service. A very interesting and helpful talk was made to the children by Mr Chas S Pearl, Superintendent of the Central church Sunday School. (He was followed by the pastor Rev Mr Peck, and the Superintendent, Hon Henry Lord in brief remarks.

The singing by the choir and school under the direction of Mr I H Hayes was inspiring.

At the close of the addresses four children received the beautiful gift of baptism. A song by the school and the benediction closed these most interesting exercises.

organ voluntary, anthem, "Sing unto the Lord, choir; responsive service, prayer by the pastor; singing, "The sweetest voice," school, reading, Maude Goodhue; Salvation Edith Cooper; Julia Patten; Nellie Warren and Maude Chalmers, solo, Julie Haines and Chas Fish by Infant class, recitation Mamie Ray; Addie Minear; Mattie Adams; Annie Ford; Maud Robinson; Addie Stockwell, Cora Danforth; Blanche Farnham and Carrie Leonard; recitation Walter Eddy; Bertie Dearborn; Walter Robinson and Harold Hodge, recitation, Josie Goodhue, singing, "I'll it again," school; recitation, Minnie Small; solo "Consider the Lilies," Miss Hodgdon; recitation, Grace Chalmers; Florence Pierce; Grace Bridges; Stella Warren; Sula Brown; Aggie Kimball; reading "Which shall it be?" Mrs Dr Clark; singing, "Singing in Heaven, school; reading, selections from Mrs Moses poems, Judge Brett, remarks by Mr Geo B Goodhue; singing, "Children's Day" choir; Lord's Prayer.

SECOND BAPTIST CHURCH

The morning service was as follows: Organ voluntary, invocation by the pastor, Rev Mr Isley; singing, "Hail happy morning, school and congregation, reading of Scripture, Psalm CXI and part of Psalm CXIX, also part of Isaiah IV by the pastor, prayer by the pastor; singing, "Oh, Children's Day, school and congregation.

Sermon to children, by pastor, the children being present in large numbers the smaller one in the front seats with their teachers, and many others with parents in the congregation. Text Matt VI 28-34, "Consider the lilies" etc. Singing to close, "Teach one has a mission."

The decorations were very elaborate, and were finely arranged by a committee of young ladies of the Sunday School. Back of the pulpit was hung a mammoth banner with white block lilies bearing the scripture text, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not." Under the gas fixtures were hung six baskets of flowers, while on the platform and about the pulpit were flowering plants, bouquets, baskets of pansies and pinks and a cross of demon lilies.

Two easels stood in front of the platform, bearing beautifully colored pictures illustrating Bible, child life, two of the child Samuel and others showing the Saviour surrounded by children, celebrating the Feast of Tabernacles.

In the evening the decorations were added to by a beautiful floral anchor and other offerings. The school held an exercise, the scholars taking active part in songs, recitations and readings, giving a review of the life of St Paul as thought by the Sunday School lessons the past year.

At the commencement of the evening services five little girls sang a very fine hymn, "I think when I read that sweet story of old, when Jesus was here among men" etc, in a very pleasing manner. The closing part of the exercises was very touching and of deep interest.

Six boys standing on the platform told of St Paul's characteristics, reviewing his wonderful life as the great "Apostle to the Gentiles," in fitting words, when a little girl came forward bearing a most exquisite floral crown, after repeating the words of St. Paul, "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith," etc, she presented the crown to the Superintendent who placed it upon the top of an easel on which rested a large photograph of St. Paul, after Raphael. The services closed after singing "Light after darkness, crown after cross."

Charles A Wentworth, while hewing ship timber in A. F. Ames' yard, Rockland, last Saturday, got a shocking cut in the knee joint by the slipping of his broad axe. He went to his home and a surgeon dressed the wound. The arteries were severed and a severe dressing was necessary, during which a brother-in-law of Mr Wentworth, R. M. Black, assisted the doctor, and when the operation was over he fainted from exhaustion. At the last accounts he was doing as well as could be expected.

BAR HARBOR.

Another Very Pleasant Excursion.

The pleasant party that had the good fortune to be the guests of the Maine Central Railroad on the Bar Harbor excursion Saturday fully realized that this is a period of progress and that American enterprise and ingenuity keep well abreast of the times. A few years ago the traveller left Boston early in the morning and if he got to Bangor in season for a late tea he felt that he was doing well. Now the traveller after a good night's rest can eat his breakfast leisurely in Boston, take the cars at 9 A M, arrive in Bangor at 5 05 P M and at Bar Harbor, if that delightful resort chances to be his destination, at 8 10 P.M, in ample season for a hot supper. These admirable facilities will be appreciated by travellers either for pleasure or profit, and we predict that the Mount Desert Branch will do a large and constantly increasing business.

So much has already been written concerning this attractive trip that but little can be added. To say that portions of the scenery along the route are beautiful but faintly expresses it as for instance no adequate idea of the charming picture brought to view as the train rolls past Phillips and Reed's ponds can be given in print—it must be seen to be appreciated. The change at Mt Desert Ferry from the cars to the neat and well arranged boat is a most agreeable one and the thirty minutes sail is both delightful for the wealth of the rugged scenery as well as the invigorating breezes that puts new life into the traveller and gives him a keen appetite for his supper.

The party that went down Saturday was a large and thoroughly social one. Those from the west in part of the State and Boston arrived on the regular train at 5 35 P M as follows: Geo Donahue and I A Lowell Bath, Wm G Davis, S H Stevens, C B Merrill, G C Shaw, F B Winslow, Fred N Dow, H W Dearing, L N Winslow, Wm Lewis, I Lougee, O W Lane, B C Somerby, H L Davis, H W Hersey, Albion Little, J P Hobbs, F L Stetson, Walter Allen, Press, G Allen, J L Prindle, A Stickney, E H Gerrish, P W Mallory, Rev F M Lawrence, J W Lane, M P Hunt, Strand Waterhouse, J N Lord, J S Winslow, Henry Fox, W H Woodbury, H R Virgin, G W Reid, J S Merrill, A J Miller, C J Moody, J W Peters, F W Collins, M A Billingham, C A Cushing, C M Gore, H L O Adams, F H Perry, D Moulton, M P Emery, S B Kelley, L C Smith, B Dennison, W Senter, W I Kilbourn, J E Hawkes, A R Hawkes, I O Short, E J Rollins, H E McAllister, Ellis Thomas, J S Heald, O S Foggg, J F Pinder, J Tod Ir, D F Emery, W I Fuller, B F Chadbourne, A B Moulton of Portland, W A R Boothby, Wm Little, J H Manley, F C Allen, H White, A J Smith, Augusta.

At Bangor the following additions were made to the party: Ex Chief Justice Appleton, Chief Justice Peters, Associate Justices Danforth Virgin, Emery, Foster and Haskell, F Wilson, W Lane, S E Humphrey, J Rogers, W H Hayford, B B Dunham, A A Burrill, Georgia Adams, W F Brown, Caleb Strong, Joseph Smith, George Varney, Chas H Milliken, Frederick M Laughton, H B Stanley, George Stetson, Fred Hight, F N Greene, O W Davis Ir, F H Chapman, J Cutler, F D Butler and representative of the White and Cottrill the railway officials of the party were as follows: Eastern—D W Sanborn, I W Sanborn, W J Hobbs, W H Perkins, Geo H Johnson, F R Harper, New Brunswick Road, Arthur Brown, D P Rodd, Maine Central—Payson, Lucier, Bickford, W Crosby, W S Tolman, Wm Mitchell, W A Abbott, G F Mitchell, K Russell, G W Wagg, D A Booker, H E Doust, H G Parkman, M Holden, I Warehouse, John Hill, C H Kendall, Engineers Robinson and Burr.

Besides those named above there were a number of people from Bangor and elsewhere on board (some of whom went to Bar Harbor and others stopped at different points), including Mr and Mrs Samuel Strout and Miss Fanny Strout, G Stickney, I A Boardman and wife, Mrs L F Boothby and Miss Edith Robinson, Miss Julia B Stone and two children and others.

The departure of the train for excursionists from beyond Bangor was delayed about an hour by a fickle Maine Central engine, which finally started for Bar Harbor at 7 P M, with the Maine Central depot crowd. On arriving at Bar Harbor the party proceeded to the West House, where Messrs Shaw & Sons provided an excellent supper after which rooms were assigned for the night. Yesterday a portion of the party went out for a sail in the steamer, while others accepted the invitation of the Green Mountain Railway Company to go over their novel road. This one trip is worth going to Bar Harbor for, even if there were no other attractions. After a short ride in comfortable barges the party embarked on the little steamer with Mr Crum at the wheel, you wonder if there is any kind of a craft or piece of machinery he don't understand how to run? and in every brief time we were at the foot of the mount in readiness for the ascent. This wonderful piece of engineering skill has been described at length in our columns so that all we can say is if you want to enjoy the novel experience of climbing the side of a mountain in a railway carriage fail to take this trip. You will find it amply repaid. The view from the summit is grand. Both parties returned to the house in season for dinner and the afternoon was passed quietly at the hotel until 5 35 P M, when a number of the party returned, the others remaining over until to-day.

The members of this party were the guests of the Maine Central throughout the trip and nothing was left undone that could in any way contribute to the general enjoyment. The officials named above were ably reinforced at Bar Harbor by Mr H R Tucker, the general agent at that place. It is safe to say a party never received more courteous treatment or enjoyed themselves better than this and the Bar Harbor trip will be long remembered.

A New Steamer—Drowned while Swimming—Proposed Regatta—Other Items of Interest.

CALAIS, June 28, 1884.

To the Editor of Whig & Courier.

The new Grand Manan steamer "Flushing" made her first appearance on the river Thursday afternoon. She is a fine looking boat and comes highly recommended as a powerful, speedy and durable steamer. It is to be deplored that the Frontier Steamboat Company did not purchase a boat like this one for its winter traffic in place of the unshapely mass which they did purchase.

John Maxwell, aged 23, of Moore's Mills, was drowned in Chiputneticook Lake on Wednesday of last week while in swimming. He was engaged as a cook on a lumber drive.

The majority of the workmen employed in the New Brunswick Railway shops, at St. Andrews which were recently removed to McAdam Junction, refused to go to McAdam without an increase of wages, which was not granted.

The elegant, gold lined, silver trumpet, won by the St. Stephen Hose Company at the Woodstock exhibition last week attracts much attention in St. Stephen. It is a very handsome piece of work.

The public schools of Calais won much credit by the late examinations of last week. All who attended any of the exhibitions were highly gratified.

Every feat was very difficult and performed with the greatest grace and ease. His best and too whirling feats were fully equal to those of Axel Paulsen the phenomenal ice skater. Prof Tivoley exhibited in Eastport last evening and will appear here again this evening. Miss Mary Madden appears at the rink July 3d and 4th.

The following circular is being extensively circulated in Calais and St. Stephen together with a subscription list which is meeting with excellent success. The committee is composed of four of our foremost citizens, whose guarantee is sufficient to make the regatta a grand success.

The undersigned committee, conducting the Calais regatta, agree as follows: To use every effort to have the proposed boat race take place on July 24th and 25th the starting point to be opposite Crocker's field in St Stephen N B, 2d, to use our best efforts to induce professional oarsmen to participate, and to that end will offer the thousand dollars in prizes to the winners, to be divided judiciously as first second and third, making the first prize $600 at least and dividing the balance of $400 between the second and third contests, a plan to be decided on if all the thousand dollars is subscribed by citizens of Calais or St Stephen and paid in to Marshall N Mitchell, Treasurer before July 1st, we will guarantee to make a boat race to insure the success of the regatta, and make it an advantage to the towns of both communities. And we further agree and guarantee that if, after the money is paid in, the race should not take place that each subscriber shall be paid the amount of his subscription actually paid in, by the treasurer, M N Mitchell, who will have the money on deposit at the Calais National Bank. We further agree that the money subscribed and paid shall be deposited subject to the order of the referee, if the race occurs, and if the race is not, it will be drawn by check of the treasurer to each subscriber, to the amount of his individual subscription. Will the Records be Reduced?

[From the Breeder's Gazette.]

If present appearances go for anything there is little doubt that during the coming season, the fastest records at both trotting and pacing in harness will be lowered, and it is possible that so material a reduction in these figures will be made that a mark will be set which shall stand for some time to come. Of course such reductions it is supposed will come from Jay-eye-see and Johnston, these horses being unquestionably the fastest at their respective gaits now on the turf. Of the former, it may be said that he never was in better condition than at the present time. Last year, at about this season, it will be recollected that he was driven a mile over the Hartford track in 2:16¾, and that performance was rightly deemed a wonderful one for a horse of his age. When news of this fast mile by Jay-eye-see got out abroad, there were not wanting sports to predict that the result of such work so early in the season would be anything but beneficial to the little black horse. But as he trotted on, week after week, and continued to improve, this fact plainly showed that a theory of overwork was false one.

The fact of the matter is, that at no time last year was Jay-eye-see overstrained or given too much fast work, and this evidenced by his treating his best mile well in the year, and at a time when, according to the theorists, he should have been broken down. A mile a week was to most everyone, him and those more over involved more than one fast mile—not enough of speeding to keep the horse at his best. Some who noticed that his jogging exercise the little black horse scaled somewhat, were loud in their assertions that he was beginning to break down, and that sundry other mishaps were certain to occur if the plan of trotting 2:10 horse trot at that rate of speed when only five years of age, was followed. It is hardly necessary to state that Jay-eye-see has never been troubled with lameness. It is true that his feet are not all that could have been desired, and after the campaign of 1883 was over, was allowed to run out, winter without shoes, and the result has proven beneficial, hoofs being now grown out nicely and coming in very good perfect.

The long rest and light jogging during the months of cold weather did him a world of good, and when taken to Louisville six weeks ago, he was in excellent condition to begin the work of the season. A hurrying was done with him, for it is evident that the son of Dictator and Midnight had all his old time speed, and a few days since he was driven a mile over the Louisville track, in 2:15—the last quarter being done in 32¾ seconds. The stable which he belongs has since that time sent to the Cleveland track, and on Monday beta, Jay-Eye-See will be ready by the middle of the next month to new, with brilliant prospects of success his battle against the Seybuck record, as the blind belief of the best posted sportsmen that he will this year trot a mile in 2:10 or better, and the Gazette joins the general wish that their predictions be fulfilled.

The training of the greatest pacer the world has ever seen, Johnston, has been carried forward very slowly, Splan being determined not to make the mistake of carrying matters too much at the start. He was rather light in flesh when delivered to his present owner last fall, and during the winter was given plenty of chance put on muscle, being jogged steadily and fed in a generous manner. The result is a plan of action is shown in his present robust condition. While not at all fat, he has an abundance of flesh that can only be turned into hard muscle; and if some of this surplus speed has been obtained by the easy manner which he goes equarter at 2:12 gait, has been driven plenty of miles in four 2:30, but not one faster than that, and he will, during the coming season at 2:10 there can be no reasonable doubt. It is simply a question of health. Those trotting admirers place the notch at 98, and this does not seem unreasonable when one remembers how easily he paced a mile in 2:10 over a track full was not a very fast.
